

Share your experiences of the pandemic

- The pandemic has been challenging for people receiving home ventilation services and their caregivers.
- Our research team is conducting a study that seeks to understand the perception of individuals, caregivers and healthcare professionals as to pandemic-related challenges for home ventilation services.
- Our aim is to find ways to improve home ventilation services for future healthcare emergencies and pandemics.
- This study is part of the National Program for Home Ventilatory Assistance (NPHVA) and of the MUHC.
- Whether you are someone receiving home ventilation services, the caregiver of an adult patient, the parent of a child receiving home ventilation services or one who cared for a person who died during the pandemic, we would like to learn about your experiences and perspectives around home ventilation services during the pandemic.
- Your participation in this study may involve:
 - Filling out a survey (which can be filled out online, by mail or by phone) and/or
 - Taking part in a focus group
- If you are interested in taking part in the study, you can contact us at:
 - PNAVDrechercheCOVID@muhc.mcgill.ca
 - Tel.: 450-233-3560